Permission to Release Credit Hours

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) permits the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board (the State of Texas educational governing entity), with your consent, to disclose to higher education institutions the number of credit hours taken previously. This information is typically used to gather demographic statistics for the purpose of improving educational programs and to determine if students are graduating in a timely manner.

The Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board has my permission to report the number of credit hours that I have taken at other institutions.
